"28 million young people are changing the world"

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to share with you some copies of the new leaflet "28 million young people are changing the world". It is intended for a very wide audience, ranging from our members to parents, partner organizations, news media... anyone who should see what Scouts are doing today, and learn more about the commitment and method of Scouting.

This replaces the very popular "Scouting Is..." which was published some ten years ago and has been printed in more than 30 languages.

Development of this new brochure has involved many people, including all members of the World Scout Committee, many volunteers who were consulted at various meetings, and young people who gave their reactions during the Pan-American Jamboree earlier this year.

"28 million" is available, thus far, in English, French and Spanish. (If you want to translate and publish it in another language, please contact us. We can supply the elements which a professional printing house can use.)

Additional copies of the brochure (English and French) are available from the Central Office in Geneva. Copies in Spanish are available from the Interamerican Regional Office. We are glad to provide them at no cost, but for larger orders we ask you to pay for shipping. (Please indicate the method of shipping you want us to use.)

We hope you find this to be useful.

Sincerely yours,

Eduardo Missoni
Secretary General
